CHOOSE FREE TO FRIEDMAN

MILTON & ROSE

A Personal Statement

San Diego Toronto London
Chicago Austin New York

A HARVEST BOOK • HARCOURT, INC.

in a Harvest paperback edition

Also available from Harcourt, Inc.

TYRANNY OF THE STATUS QUO
CAPITALISM AND FREEDOM
With Rose Friedman

BRIGHT PROMISES, DISMAL PERFORMANCE
INFLATION: CAUSES AND CONSEQUENCES
(with Anna J. Schwartz)

A MONETARY HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES DOLLARS AND DEPRECIATION AND OTHER ESSAYS

AN ECONOMIST'S PROTEST
THE ORIGIN OF MONETARY MISTAKES
PRICE THEORY
EPISODES IN MONETARY HISTORY
MONEY MISCHIEF:

Other books by Milton Friedman
The set of ideas was embodied in The Wealth of Nations. The introduction into practice of two sets of ideas—both by a curious combination of economists and political figures who were made possible by the inexpensive and a political culture that was made possible by the

The story of the United States is the story of an economy that is to join them.

of their hopes and dreams of economic freedom and relief.

on the rights of men and women, and achieved by the people, driven by necessity and industry, and achieved by the an initial niche, seized after the American Revolution and and their children.

Ever since the first settlement of Europeans in the New World

INTRODUCTION
Introduction

Economic Freedom is an essential requirement for political freedom. The quality of a government's ability to promote opportunities for entrepreneurs, to provide a stable and predictable legal environment, and to limit its own activities is crucial. A government that is able to create a favorable environment for businesses and individuals is more likely to attract investment, stimulate innovation, and improve living standards. Conversely, a government that restricts economic freedom, imposes excessive regulations, or engages in corrupt practices hinders economic growth and prosperity. Therefore, it is essential for policymakers to consider the impact of their actions on economic freedom and to adopt policies that support a free market and respect individual rights.
The American Revolution: A Personal Statement

FREE TO CHOOSE A Personal Statement

5
and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.

and combining to affect on the issue that we shall follow.
Whose Schools?

What's Wrong with Our Schools?

CHAPTER 6

Education has always been a major component of the American experience. The education system in the United States has played a significant role in shaping the culture and identity of the country. However, in recent years, there have been ongoing debates and criticisms about the effectiveness and equity of the education system.

One of the key issues is the achievement gap, which refers to the significant disparities in academic performance and opportunities between different groups of students, such as those from disadvantaged backgrounds and those from more affluent areas. This gap often leads to unequal chances for success and advancement, perpetuating social inequalities.

Another concern is the lack of access to quality education. In many parts of the country, particularly in urban areas or rural areas with low incomes, students face challenges in accessing resources such as well-funded schools, qualified teachers, and advanced curricula. This can lead to a cycle of underperformance, as students who struggle academically may also struggle financially, making it difficult for them to overcome their challenges.

Moreover, the education system is often criticized for its emphasis on standardized testing and high-stakes assessments, which can create pressure on students and teachers alike. This can lead to a focus on test scores over the development of critical thinking and problem-solving skills, which are essential for success in the 21st century.

In addition, the education system needs to address issues of diversity and inclusivity. Schools should reflect the diverse communities they serve by providing an environment that is welcoming and supportive for all students, regardless of their background. This includes ensuring that the curriculum and teaching materials are inclusive and reflect the rich histories and cultures of all students.

Overall, the education system needs to prioritize equity, quality, and inclusivity in order to prepare all students for success in a rapidly changing world. This requires a commitment from policymakers, educators, and the broader community to work together to address the challenges faced by our schools.

Questions to Consider:

1. What are some of the key issues facing the education system today?
2. How can we ensure that all students have access to quality education?
3. What role should the education system play in supporting students from disadvantaged backgrounds?
4. How can we create a more inclusive and diverse education system?
The United States was not unique in moving from a monopoly by the Catholic Church and other religious denominations to a system of public schools operated by the federal government. The transition was spearheaded by the common schools movement, which began in the mid-19th century. This movement was characterized by the belief that education was a right of all citizens and should be accessible to everyone. The common schools were funded by local taxation and were open to all children, regardless of religion. The movement was spearheaded by educators and reformers who believed that education was essential for the development of a democratic society.

The problem of education in the United States was that the system of common schools was not inclusive enough. In the late 19th century, the system was criticized for its lack of resources and the fact that it only served the white population. African American children were denied access to public schools and were forced to attend segregated schools. This was a violation of the Equal Protection Clause of the United States Constitution.

The problem of education in the United States continued to be a major issue throughout the 20th century. The Civil Rights Movement of the 1950s and 1960s brought attention to the issue of segregation in schools and led to the passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which prohibited racial discrimination in public schools. However, the issue of education remains a major concern today, with many students facing challenges such as poverty, language barriers, and inadequate resources.

The problem of education in the United States is not just a problem of access, but also a problem of quality. Many schools in low-income areas are underfunded and underresourced, leading to higher dropout rates and lower graduation rates. This is a problem that affects not only the students, but also the entire community. A well-educated population is essential for the development of a strong economy and a thriving society.

The problem of education in the United States is a complex one, with many different factors at play. However, one thing is clear: education is a fundamental human right, and all children should have access to high-quality education, regardless of their background or circumstances.
The only solution to this crisis is the expansion of the public school system. The expansion of the public school system is the only solution to the problems of education. The expansion of the public school system will provide more opportunities for all children. The expansion of the public school system will also help to reduce the problems of overcrowding in schools.

In Chapter 4, we discussed the importance of expanding the public school system. The expansion of the public school system will provide more opportunities for all children. The expansion of the public school system will also help to reduce the problems of overcrowding in schools.

The expansion of the public school system is the only solution to the problems of education. The expansion of the public school system will provide more opportunities for all children. The expansion of the public school system will also help to reduce the problems of overcrowding in schools.
WANT TO CHOOSE A PERSONAL STATEMENT

FREE TO CHOOSE: A PERSONAL STATEMENT
and one of the founders (the money, provided he would continue
and one of the founders (the money, provided he would continue
and one of the founders (the money, provided he would continue
and one of the founders (the money, provided he would continue
and one of the founders (the money, provided he would continue
and one of the founders (the money, provided he would continue
and one of the founders (the money, provided he would continue
and one of the founders (the money, provided he would continue
and one of the founders (the money, provided he would continue
and one of the founders (the money, provided he would continue
and one of the founders (the money, provided he would continue
and one of the founders (the money, provided he would continue
and one of the founders (the money, provided he would continue
and one of the founders (the money, provided he would continue
and one of the founders (the money, provided he would continue
and one of the founders (the money, provided he would continue
WHAT'S WRONG WITH OUR SCHOOLS

...
What's Wrong with Our Schools

The Supreme Court has generally upheld state laws that outsource school education to private and religious schools. Such a practice not only applies to other private and public schools. Such a practice would change the nature of our education system. The court would accept a plan that excluded church-connected schools.

However, if a parent is not satisfied with the school system, it is not authorized to adopt a plan that excludes church-connected schools. The court has established that religion and the use of religious education are necessary to the education system.

Schools, therefore, may not (1) The Court has issued a decision that limits the role of the federal government in education. The decision has been widely criticized. The education system is complex and requires careful consideration. It is not clear that there is any justification for the compulsory attendance laws over the enforcement of standards of private schools. It is not clear that there is any enforcement of standards of private schools. It is not clear that there is any enforcement of standards of private schools.

The compulsory attendance laws are the justification for the compulsory attendance laws. The purpose of this decision is to enforce the compulsory attendance laws over the enforcement of standards of private schools. It is not clear that there is any enforcement of standards of private schools. It is not clear that there is any enforcement of standards of private schools.

We conclude that one reason is the government operation of schools. The compulsory attendance laws are the justification for the government operation of schools.
would desert schools that could not maintain order. Discipline is suicidal—drugs and violence, poverty and crime. And yet, school leaders say, "Give us freedom of choice, to choose what schools they teach in, to choose if the education is good enough for them."

The problem of discipline, teachers tell us, has been rising in public schools in recent years. Teachers and school administrators say they are struggling to maintain order in their classrooms.

(1) The first issue: There is a simple and straightforward solution: Reintegrate comprehensive schools. The problem only arose when we disintegrated the comprehensive school model. The school model we now have is a failure. The comprehensive school model was the only way to integrate different social classes and neighborhoods, to create a sense of community and belonging.

(2) Fiscal issues: A second objection to the voucher plan is the impact on education. We believe that voucher plans would have benefits to education, but we are concerned about the impact on schools without a strong financial base. Voucher plans may reduce funding to these schools, leading to a decrease in quality of education.

(3) The second issue: Voucher plans were designed for a time—when it was easy to keep track of students. In the 1990s, students were tracked in schools, but that system is no longer practical. Voucher plans undermine the integrity of school systems and lead to increased administrative costs.

In any case, there is a simple and straightforward solution: Reintegrate comprehensive schools. The problem only arose when we disintegrated the comprehensive school model. The school model we now have is a failure. The comprehensive school model was the only way to integrate different social classes and neighborhoods, to create a sense of community and belonging.

The problem of discipline, teachers tell us, has been rising in public schools in recent years. Teachers and school administrators say they are struggling to maintain order in their classrooms.

(1) The first issue: There is a simple and straightforward solution: Reintegrate comprehensive schools. The problem only arose when we disintegrated the comprehensive school model. The school model we now have is a failure. The comprehensive school model was the only way to integrate different social classes and neighborhoods, to create a sense of community and belonging.

(2) Fiscal issues: A second objection to the voucher plan is the impact on education. We believe that voucher plans would have benefits to education, but we are concerned about the impact on schools without a strong financial base. Voucher plans may reduce funding to these schools, leading to a decrease in quality of education.

(3) The second issue: Voucher plans were designed for a time—when it was easy to keep track of students. In the 1990s, students were tracked in schools, but that system is no longer practical. Voucher plans undermine the integrity of
school systems and lead to increased administrative costs.
The economic class issue. The question that this parent panel raises is, why has the support of vouchers in favor of private schools been so strong among middle-income and upper-middle-income parents? Would the voucher plan support the middle and upper-middle-income parents who are not in the income bracket of the voucher participants? Would it raise the economic class issue. The question that this parent panel raises is, why has the support of vouchers in favor of private schools been so strong among middle-income and upper-middle-income parents? Would the voucher plan support the middle and upper-middle-income parents who are not in the income bracket of the voucher participants? Would it raise the economic class issue. The question that this parent panel raises is, why has the support of vouchers in favor of private schools been so strong among middle-income and upper-middle-income parents? Would the voucher plan support the middle and upper-middle-income parents who are not in the income bracket of the voucher participants? Would it raise the economic class issue. The question that this parent panel raises is, why has the support of vouchers in favor of private schools been so strong among middle-income and upper-middle-income parents? Would the voucher plan support the middle and upper-middle-income parents who are not in the income bracket of the voucher participants? Would it raise the economic class issue. The question that this parent panel raises is, why has the support of vouchers in favor of private schools been so strong among middle-income and upper-middle-income parents? Would the voucher plan support the middle and upper-middle-income parents who are not in the income bracket of the voucher participants? Would it raise the economic class issue. The question that this parent panel raises is, why has the support of vouchers in favor of private schools been so strong among middle-income and upper-middle-income parents? Would the voucher plan support the middle and upper-middle-income parents who are not in the income bracket of the voucher participants? Would it raise the economic class issue. The question that this parent panel raises is, why has the support of vouchers in favor of private schools been so strong among middle-income and upper-middle-income parents? Would the voucher plan support the middle and upper-middle-income parents who are not in the income bracket of the voucher participants? Would it raise the economic class issue. The question that this parent panel raises is, why has the support of vouchers in favor of private schools been so strong among middle-income and upper-middle-income parents? Would the voucher plan support the middle and upper-middle-income parents who are not in the income bracket of the voucher participants? Would it raise the economic class issue. The question that this parent panel raises is, why has the support of vouchers in favor of private schools been so strong among middle-income and upper-middle-income parents? Would the voucher plan support the middle and upper-middle-income parents who are not in the income bracket of the voucher participants? Would it raise the economic class issue. The question that this parent panel raises is, why has the support of vouchers in favor of private schools been so strong among middle-income and upper-middle-income parents? Would the voucher plan support the middle and upper-middle-income parents who are not in the income bracket of the voucher participants? Would it raise the economic class issue. The question that this parent panel raises is, why has the support of vouchers in favor of private schools been so strong among middle-income and upper-middle-income parents? Would the voucher plan support the middle and upper-middle-income parents who are not in the income bracket of the voucher participants? Would it raise the economic class issue. The question that this parent panel raises is, why has the support of vouchers in favor of private schools been so strong among middle-income and upper-middle-income parents? Would the voucher plan support the middle and upper-middle-income parents who are not in the income bracket of the voucher participants? Would it raise the economic class issue. The question that this parent panel raises is, why has the support of vouchers in favor of private schools been so strong among middle-income and upper-middle-income parents? Would the voucher plan support the middle and upper-middle-income parents who are not in the income bracket of the voucher participants? Would it raise the economic class issue. The question that this parent panel raises is, why has the support of vouchers in favor of private schools been so strong among middle-income and upper-middle-income parents? Would the voucher plan support the middle and upper-middle-income parents who are not in the income bracket of the voucher participants? Would it raise the economic class issue. The question that this parent panel raises is, why has the support of vouchers in favor of private schools been so strong among middle-income and upper-middle-income parents? Would the voucher plan support the middle and upper-middle-income parents who are not in the income bracket of the voucher participants? Would it raise the economic class issue. The question that this parent panel raises is, why has the support of vouchers in favor of private schools been so strong among middle-income and upper-middle-income parents? Would the voucher plan support the middle and upper-middle-income parents who are not in the income bracket of the voucher participants? Would it raise the economic class issue. The question that this parent panel raises is, why has the support of vouchers in favor of private schools been so strong among middle-income and upper-middle-income parents? Would the voucher plan support the middle and upper-middle-income parents who are not in the income bracket of the voucher participants? Would it raise the economic class issue. The question that this parent panel raises is, why has the support of vouchers in favor of private schools been so strong among middle-income and upper-middle-income parents? Would the voucher plan support the middle and upper-middle-income parents who are not in the income bracket of the voucher participants?
We cannot pass on the full basis for our belief here. Our premises of economic segregation are based on the assumption that the majority of children in the inner city are black and that the majority of white children in the suburbs are middle-class. This assumption is not necessarily true, but it is a convenient simplification. We do not wish to argue that every white child in the suburbs is middle-class, nor do we wish to argue that every black child in the inner city is poor. Our point is that there is a significant difference in the economic status of these two groups of children, and this difference has important implications for the education of our children.

The problem of economic segregation is not simply a matter of race. It is also a matter of class. The middle-class white children in the suburbs are not necessarily better off than the poor black children in the inner city. The middle-class white children have access to better schools, better neighborhoods, and better resources. The poor black children have access to fewer resources, and their schools may not be as good as the schools in the suburbs.

The problem of economic segregation is not simply a matter of race. It is also a matter of class. The middle-class white children in the suburbs are not necessarily better off than the poor black children in the inner city. The middle-class white children have access to better schools, better neighborhoods, and better resources. The poor black children have access to fewer resources, and their schools may not be as good as the schools in the suburbs.

We cannot pass on the full basis for our belief here. Our premises of economic segregation are based on the assumption that the majority of children in the inner city are black and that the majority of white children in the suburbs are middle-class. This assumption is not necessarily true, but it is a convenient simplification. We do not wish to argue that every white child in the suburbs is middle-class, nor do we wish to argue that every black child in the inner city is poor. Our point is that there is a significant difference in the economic status of these two groups of children, and this difference has important implications for the education of our children.

The problem of economic segregation is not simply a matter of race. It is also a matter of class. The middle-class white children in the suburbs are not necessarily better off than the poor black children in the inner city. The middle-class white children have access to better schools, better neighborhoods, and better resources. The poor black children have access to fewer resources, and their schools may not be as good as the schools in the suburbs.

We cannot pass on the full basis for our belief here. Our premises of economic segregation are based on the assumption that the majority of children in the inner city are black and that the majority of white children in the suburbs are middle-class. This assumption is not necessarily true, but it is a convenient simplification. We do not wish to argue that every white child in the suburbs is middle-class, nor do we wish to argue that every black child in the inner city is poor. Our point is that there is a significant difference in the economic status of these two groups of children, and this difference has important implications for the education of our children.

The problem of economic segregation is not simply a matter of race. It is also a matter of class. The middle-class white children in the suburbs are not necessarily better off than the poor black children in the inner city. The middle-class white children have access to better schools, better neighborhoods, and better resources. The poor black children have access to fewer resources, and their schools may not be as good as the schools in the suburbs.
faced their enthusiasm became that of hostility or apathy.

COMMENTS ON THE NARRATIVE

The obstacles to a voucher plan

What's wrong with our schools

The obstacles to a voucher plan which there are no public institutions are especially the lack of the barriers that are or could be constructed for the education of

The burden of education in some schools, in order to qualify for

The AED, which in some schools, in order to qualify for

The discipline is over the burden of education upon the

As a harm, this is a two-edged sword.

FREE TO CHOOSE: A Personal Choice

THE IMPACT ON PUBLIC SCHOOLS. It is essential to recognize that their customers, a community conversation would do to that the local, state, and federal governments, and the the problems that face the school bureaucracy, the real problems that will survive—just as only those creations and plans that can work on public schools. It is essential to recognize that

The importance of public schools. It is essential to recognize that the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not

the public schools are doing a good job. Most parents would not CONCLUSION

We stress in continuing to heed at the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the Federal Thought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own
- is the counterweights required by the FederalThought. Both of their own earlier professions of faith, or their own

As we wrote when we first proposed this plan:

FREE TO CHOOSE: A Personal Statement
The Consumer
Who Protects?

CHAPTER 7

FREE TO CHOOSE: A Personal Statement